Lab Manager

Translational and Developmental Neuroscience (TaD) Lab &
Michigan Neurogenetics and Developmental Psychopathology
(MiND) Lab

University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, MI

Project Title: Computational examination of RDoC threat and reward constructs in a representative, predominantly low-income, longitudinal sample at increased risk for internalizing disorders (R01-MH121079)

Description: Applying computational approaches to evaluate the validity of RDoC constructs at multiple levels of analysis (brain, behavior, symptom) in a large, longitudinal, developmental sample that is disproportionately affected by adversity

- Recruit 600 young adults (ages 21-23) from a large cohort of children born to predominantly low-income, at-risk families in cities such as Detroit, Toledo, Chicago, Pittsburgh, and Indianapolis as part of the Future of Families and Child Wellbeing Study (FFCWS)
- Administer psychiatric interviews and neuropsychological assessments (SCID, WASI-II, WAIS-IV)
- Facilitate fMRI sessions to gather neuroimaging data
- Collect self-report questionnaires (STRAIN) and biomarker data (InBody, saliva, etc.)

Principal Investigators: Christopher S. Monk, PhD, Luke W. Hyde, PhD, & Colter Mitchell, PhD

Project Title: Structural racism and Black American mental health: Neurophysiological mechanisms and sociocultural processes promoting resilience during the transition to adulthood (R01-MH130158)

Description: Elucidating the links between specific neighborhood and societal indicators of structural racism and subsequent mental health, as well as stress-related neurophysiological mechanisms and sociocultural buffers that account for and influence these links

- Recruit 800 young adults (ages 24-26) from a large cohort of children raised in large cities with considerable variation across cities in segregation and criminal justice policy and implementation
- Administer psychiatric interviews (SCID)
- Facilitate fMRI sessions to gather neuroimaging data

- Collect self-report questionnaires (STRAIN) and biomarker data (BIOPAC, InBody, saliva, etc.)

Principal Investigators: Christopher S. Monk, PhD, Luke W. Hyde, PhD, Colter Mitchell, PhD, & Enrique W. Neblett, PhD

Co-Investigator: Helen C. S. Meier, PhD, MPH

June 2022 – Present

Volunteer Research Assistant
Health Risk Behavior (HRB) Lab
Lehigh University, Bethlehem, PA

Project Title: Parental Messages About Alcohol Use

Description: Examining parents' perspectives on alcohol harm-reduction communication in a quasi-qualitative study

- Conduct thematic analysis of 662 mothers' responses to open-ended online survey questions describing harm-reduction advice and alcohol-related protective behavioral strategies

Project Title: Normative reference group: Whose norms to matter?

Description: Exploring differences in perceived norms based on group type

- Drafted the IRB proposal and developed a Qualtrics survey for a health psychology experiment testing the impact of group norms on college student drinking

Project Title: Capturing connections during COVID-19: Using reflective photography to assess US college students' sense of belonging

- Assisted in thematic analysis and organization of photographs captured by over 50 first-generation students representing their sense (or lack) of belonging

Principal Investigator: Lucy E. Napper, PhD

May 2022 – Dec 2022

Research Assistant
Psychology of Eating and Consumer Health (PEACH) Lab
University of Pennsylvania, Philadelphia, PA

Project Title: Online study of the effects of sugary drink warning labels on consumption (R01DK111558)

Description: Communicating the health risks of Sugar-Sweetened Beverages (SSBs): A randomized-controlled experiment of different nutrition labels on purchases and consumption

- Recruited, screened, consented, and tracked over 150 racially and ethnically diverse caregivers of young children in the Greater Philadelphia and South Jersey area for four weeks via an online store that shipped participants their purchases
- Collected and managed over 2,000 participant data entries into a secure database (REDCap)
- Collaborated with an interdisciplinary team of scholars in a remote setting

Principal Investigator: Christina A. Roberto, PhD

Mar 2022 –
Present

Volunteer Research Assistant
Gender, Race, Inclusion and Trauma (GRIT) Lab
Lehigh University, Bethlehem, PA

Project Title: School resource officer program project

Description: Analyzing stakeholders' perspectives on the impact and effectiveness of a school resource officers program within a US public school district

- Transcribe focus group interviews of high school students and report emerging themes regarding perceptions of school safety and school resource officers
- Collect and analyze demographic survey data using statistical software (SPSS)

Principal Investigator: Christopher T. H. Liang, PhD

INDEPENDENT STUDY
